

MODULE III

LESSON 7

WHAT WILL HE DO NOW?

To complete this examination you will need to reference the following Grand Lodge publications: Module III Study Guide.

1. It is most likely the new Master Mason will only be as motivated as the active Lodge members and officers he comes in contact with.
() True () False
2. The booklet material from the Lodge System of Masonic Education must, by order, be read verbatim from the text by the instructor?
() True () False
3. If the new Master Mason was an excellent performer in his catechism work, he should probably be steered into teaching candidates?
() True () False
4. The Worshipful Master must ask the Craft to vote on his plan to use a talent survey to determine areas of interest for Lodge membership?
() True () False
5. Whatever course you direct your new Brothers in; you must always keep in mind that the new brethren in today's Lodge will be her officers in future years.
() True () False
6. Who is responsible to the new Master Mason to answer his questions? CHECK ONE:
() a. The Worshipful Master of his Lodge
() b. The Senior Warden of the Lodge
() c. The Junior Warden of the Lodge
() d. All the Master Masons with whom he comes in contact
7. Keep meetings SHORT and to the point! If you have business to conduct, do so, and do it promptly."
() True () False
8. The only limitation on a newly raised Master Mason's progress through the Lodge is the limitation imposed by his imagination and the imagination of those who have his instruction in charge?
() True () False

9. Masonic Law requires that all new Master Masons must serve duty on the kitchen crew/meeting chow committee until a new class of Master Masons is raised?
 True False
10. We are basically social animals and we thrive on associations with our fellows?
 True False

My Brother,

For the other 50% of your examination, please use the available space, and additional paper, if necessary, to explain five specific areas which you, as Worshipful Master, would explore to achieve the goal of keeping new Master Masons interested in your Lodge and attending its meetings. The important thing is to then take these ideas and expand upon them for the benefit of your year as Worshipful Master.

ANSWER: